A Thoroughfare Plan is:
- Long range (50+ years)
- Identifies type and general location of future roadways
- Preserves transportation corridors (right-of-way)
- Guides future development
- Promotes connectivity and design uniformity
- Informs public of future roadway needs
- Requires, through the platting approval process of cities and counties, appropriate dedication of rights-of-way and/or construction of identified thoroughfares by private land owners

A Thoroughfare Plan is NOT:
- A list of construction projects
- A commitment by local governments to build specific roads
- A survey, design or engineering study
- A map showing the exact alignments for specific roadways
- A ranking or prioritization of roadway improvements
- A set timeframe for when a project should be complete
- A financial plan or funding mechanism
